Performing Arts Festival | Cyprus

culture360.ASEF.org is delighted to be the media partner of Buffer Fringe Performing Arts Festival. This 5th edition of the Festival will take place on 1-4 November in Nicosia, Cyprus and will present a collection of performances and panel discussions with artists from Cyprus, Greece, Italy, Denmark, Spain, Bulgaria and many more.

Organised by Home for Cooperation, a multicultural community centre in the buffer zone of Cyprus's capital Nicosia, the festival aim is to create a open space for people coming from across the existing divide to meet in an environment where tolerance and human dignity are nurtured.

Buffer Fringe Performing Arts Festival showcases new and experimental work by local and international artists, challenges physical and artistic barriers, and creates opportunities for artists to meet and exchange ideas. It questions preconceived ideas of the performing arts, the relationship between artists and audience and shines a new light on arts and society. The festival favors innovative work, artists who take risks in their work and constantly look for new ways to express themselves.

This year's programming offers both local and international artists a platform to showcase their work and is organized in a way that artists can meet and interact both amongst themselves and with the audiences in a true celebratory spirit of multiculturalism and peaceful coexistence. Taking place in a divided country, Buffer Fringe Festival assumes more responsibilities than an arts festival taking place elsewhere. It is one of a kind in Cyprus and the world.

All events are free thus allowing also for a more traditional audience to discover more cutting-edge and avant-garde works.
