Mondriaan Fund launches digital global map of cultural activities

mondriaanfundmap

The Mondriaan Fund launches a new digital global map offering a comprehensive overview of the international activities supported by the Fund. The mapping gives a rich sense of the international visibility of the Netherlands in the arts and the variety of our support.

Our international activities include: the Dutch entry at the Venice Biennale, the annual orientation trip, our visitor's program for art professionals from other countries, international artist-in-residencies for artists and art professionals from the Netherlands, exhibiting artists from the Netherlands at relevant platforms elsewhere, including international art fairs.

The mapping offers insight in what – all over the world – has been realized with our support. The ways in which contemporary art from the Netherlands is highlighted in other countries. Moreover, the mapping is an instrument for (international) applicants and other parties interested in the possibilities the Mondriaan Fund offers, and offers an interesting array of global contacts and partners.

At this moment the digital mapping shows our activities from 2013 through 2015. As time progresses, the mapping will be complemented with data from earlier and later years.
