Values revisited - online conference

NEMO and the German Museums Association co-host the conference Museums and Social Responsibility: Values revisited, which is organised within the framework of Germany's presidency of the Council of the European Union. Participation is free of charge and the conference will take place online from 17-18 September 2020. In presentations and workshops, we will explore what social responsibility means for museums.

From 17-18 September, we meet online to further discuss the core aspects of community involvement and development. Short lectures, panel discussions and workshops are dedicated to the following topics:

- Community involvement
- Education and culture
- Employment creation and skills development
- Social investment
- Technology development and access issue

Join the conference to get actively involved, present your museum or organisation and make suggestions on how museums can be more active in the field of corporate social responsibility. The interactive conference platform will give you the opportunity to network and get to know the speakers and conference participants.

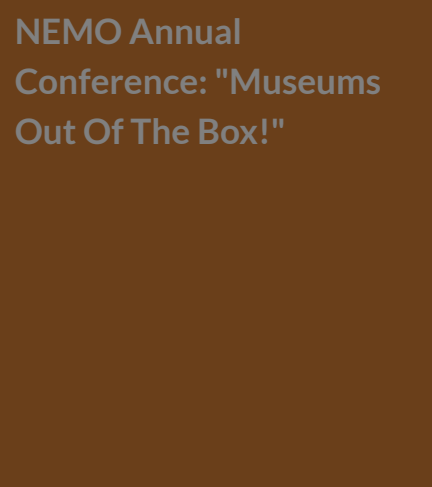

- Register directly on the conference platform Hopin: <https://hopin.to/events/valuesrevisited>
- Participation is free - limited places available
