Europe y 2023 with these festivals in Asia and Europe

Held every year on 21 March, World Poetry Day celebrates one of humanity's most treasured forms of cultural and linguistic expression and identity. UNESCO first adopted 21 March as World Poetry Day in 1999, with the aim of supporting linguistic diversity through poetic expression and increasing the opportunity for endangered languages to be heard.

World Poetry Day is the occasion to honour poets, revive oral traditions of poetry recitals, promote the reading, writing and teaching of poetry, foster the convergence between poetry and other arts, and raise the visibility of poetry in the media. What better way to do this than through poetry festivals.

Therefore, to mark World Poetry Day, here at ASEF culture360 we are rounding up some of the must-see poetry festivals in 2023 across Asia and Europe. A sub-category of literature festivals, these festivals put poetry at the heart of their programming. Although these are just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to festivals, it shows that poetry is thriving in Asia and Europe.

European Poetry Festival, UK

19 April – 11 May 2023

The European Poetry Festival (EPF) returns to London, Norwich, Kingston upon Thames and Liverpool in spring 2023 to celebrate European poetry. A total of 11 events over 3 weeks will see over one hundred poets from across the continent and the UK come together for a celebration of liveness, collaboration and cross-linguistic collective inventiveness. The European Poetry Festival has been running since 1999, and is one of the most significant European Poetry Festival has involved over 1,000 poets from across the continent since its inception in 2018. Improvisation, performance and experiment is encouraged, specifically in the environment of the live event. At the centre of all this is a celebration of collaboration. In 2023 featured poets come from Norway, Switzerland, Austria, Catalonia, Denmark, Flanders, the Netherlands, Latvia and more.

Queensland Poetry Festival, Australia

20–22 April 2023

The 2023 Queensland Poetry festival will be held in Meanjin/Brisbane 20–22 April 2023. The theme for the 2023 festival – ‘Story/Verse’ – concentrates on poetry’s connections to story. Does poetry engage with storytelling? What kinds of stories does it tell? How do poets make poems that express the experience of their worlds, of their histories, and the histories and experiences of others? The main venue is the State Library of Queensland.
