

Privacy Settings

We use cookies to optimize our website and our service.

- ☒ Functional
- ☒ Statistics
- ☒ Marketing

Save

Functional only

Accept all

COUNTRIES

GERMANY MYANMAR

THEMES

CULTURAL POLICY HERITAGE

DISCIPLINE

DESIGN

treasure

Architectural

Deutsche Welle reports from Yangon, which it describes as one of the region's most exciting cities. Following decades of international isolation, the city has still kept onto many of its colonial-era buildings.

Deutsche Welle presents a beautiful photo panorama of some of the highlighted heritage buildings, such as:

0,,18729630_303,00

The Secretariat

Welcome to the Secretariat, Yangon's iconic colonial building, which is an epic symbol of British rule; a haunting monument to the broken dreams of Burmese independence. Built in several stages between 1889 and 1905, it became the administrative center of British Burma. The sight of those glowing red bricks, obscured by forbidding barbed wire, transfixes legions of locals and visitors alike.

Tripitaka Library

Several buildings from the 1950s and '60s tell the story of a young nation struggling to find its place in the world. The Tripitaka Library, pictured here, was built on the occasion of the Sixth Buddhist Synod which took place in Yangon from 1954-1956.

Yangon Architectural Guide

It is not yet clear how the city's landscape is going to change in the coming years. Many of Yangon's historic sites are in a dilapidated state, but few are interested in their preservation. That's why Ben Bansal, Elliott Fox and Manuel Oka recently wrote a guide book titled "Yangon Architectural Guide," summarizing the city's architectural heritage. The book will be available from October 2015.

Similar content

POSTED ON
23 AUG 2012

Yangon | a city to rescue | photographers document architectural heritage

A photograph of a street in Yangon. The image shows traditional brick buildings with multiple stories. A car is parked on the street in the foreground. The scene is captured in a slightly desaturated, vintage style.

POSTED ON
15 JUN 2013

Yangon a City to Rescue | new publication

A photograph of a street in Yangon. A person is riding a bicycle on the street. In the background, there is a building with a sign that says "YANGON". The image is part of a book cover or poster.

POSTED ON
12 AUG 2013

Brisbane | Yangon a City to Rescue | exhibition

A photograph of a street in Yangon. The image shows a building with a distinctive architectural style. There are cars parked on the street. The scene is captured in a slightly desaturated, vintage style.

POSTED ON
09 DEC 2012

POSTED ON 12 JUN 2013

POSTED ON 04 MAR 2013

ABOUT ASEF CULTURE360

culture360.asef.org brings Asia and Europe closer by providing information, facilitating dialogue and stimulating reflection on the arts and culture of the two regions.

MORE ABOUT ASEF CULTURE360 | FAQ

