Foundation
for a better world

The Singapore International Foundation \(SIF\) has launched Arts for Good Projects to help support arts practitioners and their arts-based initiatives and minimise the impact that the COVID-19 situation has on the arts and culture scene globally.

The SIF's Arts for Good Projects brings together artists and different sectors of society to collaborate on arts-based initiatives to enhance cross-cultural understanding and create social impact. Applications for ideas should demonstrate the power of the arts and culture to connect, support and uplift global communities.

The Arts for Good Project should:

- Connect Singapore and global communities creatively for social good through the arts in view of social distancing practices and travel restrictions
- Facilitate active engagement with or participation by different communities across borders
- Promote cross-cultural understanding, international collaboration and positive social change

Applications close on 7 June 2020 and projects submitted for consideration should be completed by 31 December 2020. Successful applicants may receive up to S$20,000 per project.

More information can be found on SIF's website and the FAQs.
