Asian Cinema Fund - calls for proposals

Submissions for 2019 Asian Cinema Fund (ACF) are open with different categories and deadlines. Apply by 20 March for the Script Development Fund (Feature-length Fiction Film Script Development) and by 20 April for Post-Production Fund (Feature-length Fiction Films) and Asian Network of Documentary Fund (Feature-length Documentary Film Projects for theatrical release)

General eligibility is for: Feature-length film projects by directors of Asian nationality and containing Asian elements. (Please check each fund's Submission Guidelines for more information.)

Take a good look at the eligibility criteria and deadlines for the three different strands of ACF programme.

Asian Cinema Fund (ACF) is based in Korea and has been an essential partner for Asian cinema with its three supporting categories - Script Development Fund, Post-production Fund and Asian Network of Documentary (AND) Fund. ACF is committed to help activate more independent film productions and to set up a stable production environment.

ACF projects have been presented at many international film festivals and received great response both from audience and critics. Now, ACF helps Asian feature films and documentaries to establish their identities and to position themselves as important parts of the film industry. During the Busan International Film Festival, ACF provides a forum for Asian filmmakers to share their knowledge, leading to a pan-Asian network. Also, in cooperation with other international film festivals, ACF broadens opportunities to present high quality Asian films and documentaries around the world.

ACF is striving to help Asian filmmakers realize their visions and to take Asian cinema to the next level.
