The site comprises of news, events, opportunities, as well as a Magazine section and a Resource Directory. He/she will also write one article per month on a relevant film topic related to Asia and/or Europe.

The Editor is responsible for uploading content on film.culture360.org's backend and will also be sharing the same content on social media platforms (e.g. Facebook, Twitter.)

Additionally, the editor is responsible for keeping the culture360.org organisations directory up-to-date by adding relevant film institutions and key players from the film industry.

The Editor will manage news and information coming from current ASEM countries. He/she is expected to ensure a good geographical distribution across the film.culture360.org website.

The ideal candidate will have:

- At least 4 years of prior working experience as a film editor for an online publication specialised in independent cinema. He/she will have a strong and broad knowledge of arts and culture of both Asia and Europe.
- Proven experience as art/culture writer, researcher and contributing editor for film magazines and/or film festivals and events in the 2 regions.

- A strong network of film industry professionals in Asia and Europe.
- Good knowledge of social media platforms.
- Ability to work in a team and in close collaboration with the editorial team at the Asia-Europe Foundation.
- A pro-active approach to searching and finding cultural content.

Requirements:

- Candidates have to be a national of an ASEM member country*.
- This position is freelance. The applicant does not need to be based in Singapore.

For this position the Film Editor will receive a fee of SGD 1200 per month (12 month contract).

Please send your CV, cover letter, writing samples as well as web links to:
