Gyeonggi International Ceramic Workshop - call for applications

The 8th Gyeonggi International Ceramic Biennale 2015 International Ceramic Workshop is open for applications. 6 international artists will be selected for the residential workshop, to be held in Icheon, Korea 8-16 May 2015.

The GICB 2015 once again opens its arena to the world to receive young artists who wish to participate in the INTERNATIONAL CERAMIC WORKSHOP. The 8th Gyeonggi International Ceramic Biennale 2015 (GICB 2015) hopes to experiment with new and innovative ideas in ceramics by inviting well known artists around the world to support their creative activities simultaneously as developing the ceramic community of Icheon by collaborating with the local artists through the <INTERNATIONAL CERAMIC WORKSHOP>. In doing so it hopes to remain true to the main theme of GICB 2015 which is 'Color; Ceramic Spectrum'. It is an opportunity to motivate creative exchange through workshops taking place on the site.

8th Gyeonggi International Ceramic Biennale | open call

International Competition of GCBiennale2015 wholeheartedly welcomes works by artists that reinterpret traditional value concepts as reality, breaking away from the conventional dichotomy of ceramics as design and ceramics as art. Ceramic artist boundaries of ceramics ever outward, and the boundary between ceramics as design and ceramics as art is increasingly blurred. Competition will focus on the possibilities for ceramic art to expand its territory by discovering networks of mixed materials and not of other genres and ceramics fused with other genres of art, not to mention the values inherent in ceramics.

The International Competition of GCBiennale2015 will be an opportunity to display your imagination and creativity to the latest competition that will open the future of ceramics, presenting diverse issues facing us today including political, social, religious, cultural issues along with aesthetic values.
