India:printmaking residency and workshop at Chaap Collective

Chhaap: Baroda printmaking workshop was set up in 1999 by three artists, to do their own work and also to create print making facilities available to other artists. The objectives of chhaap are to popularise limited edition original prints through workshops, exhibitions and lectures.

Chhaap also offers short term Artist in residence programs between September to March for 1 week to one month. Artists can stay in the studio which has two etching presses, a hotplate and an aquabox. Visiting artists can give lectures and conduct short workshops on any medium of print making. Open to international artists. Open call Application can be made round the year on a plain paper with 10 sample of work, with a brief on how they wish to spend time.
