Videoformes I Video Art and Digital Cultures

Submissions are open for Videoformes 2013, a leading European video art and digital culture festival to be held in Clermont-Ferrand in France. Since its inception in 1984, the festival has defined itself as a permanent observer of the newest evolution in the field, while creating a platform for the interaction of artists and the general public. There will be exhibitions, lectures, screenings, debates and performances. The highlight of the event consists of a nocturnal projection on the façades of the town's museums and art houses. The festival is to be held from March 14th to April 1st, 2013. The last date for submissions is 1st October 2012.
