Zinc Shower | call for projects

Zinc Shower is the biggest professional event of the Creative and Collaborative Economy. International call for the best business projects in the creative and collaborative economy to be presented at Zinc Shower, Madrid 8-9 May.

Call for projects (Showers)

In the third Zinc Shower call for projects, we are looking for the best business projects in the creative and collaborative economy.

Projects from any sector and country that have potential or are already on the market, innovating and transforming the economy and society.

You can present your project or startup, whether it is in its early phases of development or creation, or if it is already an established business in a phase of growth, expansion or internationalisation.

We select the most innovative and transformative projects (showers) through an international call for projects. Participants will be given an exhibition spot at the event so that they can make their projects known and contact customers, collaborators, financial backers and the media.

Deadline: 15 March 2015

Why go to Zinc Shower?

It is a unique and transformative experience where thousands of people gather in a setting dedicated to creativity, entrepreneurship, trends and technology. Through a varied programme of chats, round tables, workshops, networking and shows, we have brought together the very best national and international speakers so that they may share their experience, knowledge and time with the public. A meeting where you will be the centre of attention.

It is the only event that gathers entrepreneurs, professionals, students, investors, institutions, companies, sponsors and the media to give their support to innovation, collaboration, training, financing and creative and collaborative entrepreneurship.
