The National School of Music and Dance

The National School of Music and Dance was founded in 1975 with the merging of the School of Music and Dance and the School of Music of the National Front (Neolaohaksad). It is the only formal educational institute and its aim is to preserve and promote traditional Lao art, music and dance within the country and abroad.

Similar content

Greek National Opera

Korea National University of Arts (KNUA)

Ballet Philippines

Dartington College of the Arts

Leyte Dance Theater

Barcelona | The Asia Festival of Stage Arts