Platform China Contemporary Art Institute

Platform China Contemporary Art Institute (Platform China) aims to develop and promote contemporary arts in China and to build up a platform of cultural exchange and dialogue between Chinese and international artists.

It includes gallery spaces, artists' residency studios, a multi-media room and a project space. Platform China not only directly supports visual art, performing/performance art, experimental music, new media and all the other cutting-edge art forms, but also promotes contemporary art through publishing, curating, and managing art projects.

The goal of Platform China is to create an open artistic environment in which contemporary art in all its different identities can be created, shown, and discussed. They discover, support and promote excellent young Chinese artists and promote international artists' recognition in China.
